Building and Loan Associations. Building and loan associations have become very popular in late years and have been the means of teaching people of moderate means lessons in economy and enabling them to become owners o of moderate means lessons in economy their homes instead of paying rent Directed and managed with business improved property. prudence, they are great factors in promoting the growth and adding to the wealth of a town or city. No sooner were their usefulness and popularity demonstrated than their idea was seized upon by speculators throughout the country, and so-called national associations sprang up thicker than mush-rooms after an autumn rain,

The conservative and safe methods of the local associations were improved uppool-pool-d Edison. They think that good on to such an extent that, according to prospectuses of the "nationals." money of the investor would double and trebble itself in an incredible short time, while the borrower could procure loans at rates that were much more liberal, and the payments a great deal easier to meet than those of his home 75 cents organization. And they produced fig-75 cents ures to prove it, too. But practical experience has proved to the investor that figures lie on some occasions.

Hundreds of these corporations have gone to the wall in the past few years, entailing the loss of thousands of dollars to those who could ill afford to stand it. Yet there are still many more in existence, some of them finan-cially sound, it is true, which are annually taking thousands of dollars out of the community where it belongs and wasting it elsewhere. These companies have been well named "rich men" companies." They are promoted and fostered by capitalists, who use the monthly stipend of the workingman

Saying nothing of local pride and the advantage to be gained by keeping one's savings in his own community, business sense should teach any on that these expensively conducted companies, with their costly pay-roll, cannot honestly offer the inducements for a safe investment that the local association, with its economical methods of management, can.—Charlottesville Pro-

MARRIAGE BETWEEN WOMEN.-The legal world of London is much exercised over the complications likely to ensue from revelations made in a trial which has just been had before Mr. H. C. GRAVES, up to the present time, was thought valid, both parties were women. In the year mentioned, Mrs. Rachel Elizabeth Cullener, a widow, was harassed by creditors, who wanted to arrest her and attach the income she derived from the will of her husband. This income, by the will, she would lose if she married again. She had living with her a son and daughter, together with Miss Sophia Newland, a cousin of Mrs. Cul-lener's late husband. The whole family was suffering for want of food, when it was suggested by the daughter that her mother marry again, after which her children would collect the income and support her. It was difficult to find a husband who could be trusted. So Mrs. Cullener, in man's clothes, under the name of James Stanley, was married in due form to Miss Sophia Newland, who, at the marriage ceremony, took the name of Mrs. Cullener. Both signed their borrowed names in ther register of the parish, and Miss Newland lived with Mrs. Cullener until 1883. Both have testified on the trial to the facts here narrated. Mr. Justice Chitty refused to believe the witnesses, and dismissed the case, holding that a woman who has, by her own admission, been for years "steeped in fraud' has no right to complain if the courts decline to believe her when she comes mony, took the name of Mrs. Cullener cline to believe her when she comes forward in her own interest to impeach After Taking Stock, a solemn entry in a marriage register, the accuracy of a recital in a deed to which she was herself a party, and the plain intent and meaning of the course
